

Nunavut Climate Change Centre (NC³) Website Project Summary Submissions

SUMMARY:

If you are currently (or have) carried out climate change research in Nunavut, please consider submitting a summary of your work to the Nunavut Climate Change Centre (NC³) for publication on our website. The NC³ is a centralized climate change resource site that aims to provide current climate change information relevant to Nunavummiut and provide a platform for researchers, community members, and governments to report on climate change activities occurring in Nunavut.

Please follow the Submission Guidelines listed below and email your submission to:
